"Be Still"

"They were terrified and asked each other,
"Who is this? Even the wind and the waves obey him!" (Mark 4: 41)

Jesus is sleeping in the boat as the disciples row to the other side. Caught in a tremendous, sudden storm, water is about to fill the boat. Terrified they are going to drown, the disciples wake up Jesus with a sense of urgency and terror. "Teacher, don't you care if we drown?" they ask.

Jesus doesn't answer their question with words. Rather he just gets up, and says to the wind "Be quiet," and to the waves, "Be still." And they obey him. Now the disciples are caught up in wonder. "Who is this?" "What kind of a man is this that even the wind and the waves obey him?"

Now, with the benefit of a few thousand years of church history, I know "what kind of a man" he was! But I still have a sense of wonder over this story, though it is not about his power over the wind and waves. The thing which amazes me is his silent answer to their question, "Master, don't you care that we are about to drown?" With his actions, he answered their fears. He not only cared about them, he was able to protect them.

How much more he has done for us! He commanded the wind and the waves with the sound of his voice — maybe the raising of a hand or something like that. And in so doing he saved the disciples in that little boat. You and I are apt to be tossed around in stormy seas, apt to be swamped with waves which can capsize our little boat of life on planet earth. With a word or the raising of his hand, he can calm our fears and give us the peace we need in those times.

Even more amazing than his command over the wind and waves is his desire to save the likes of us — sinners right to the core! And yet he offers salvation — salvation granted not by some simple words or some simple gesture of raising the hand. No, it is a salvation which is obtained for us through his willingness to die for you and me for the redemption of our sins.

"What kind of a God is this?" One who calls us all to him, one who seeks us throughout our days, and one we can count on to take us home at the end of our time here.

God's peace this month,
Pastor Andrew C. Lissy

Vicar's Voice

This past Sunday, we sang the hymn, "Where Charity and Love Prevail" (LSB 845), and it got me thinking about something I read recently that I would like to share with you here. The hymn brought to mind 1 Corinthians 13, which we often remember because of the well-loved "love discourse" that we hear recited at so many weddings (Reading Rainbow even posted it— in part— on their Facebook page for Valentine's Day a few years ago!). But it made me think especially of the final verse of chapter 13, where Paul writes, "So now faith, hope, and love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love" (1 Corinthians 13:13 ESV). Now, you'll notice that the word "charity" doesn't appear in this translation, but in older translations (especially the King James Version of 1611), the word translated as "love" is translated as "charity." In the Greek New Testament, the word that is translated as both "love" and "charity" is agapê, which more properly refers to the sort of love that Christians have for one another. This was translated into Latin as caritas (also meaning love), and hence, "charity" when that word came into English. As far as Paul is concerned, love and charity are two sides of the same coin.

But how are faith, hope, and love (or charity) connected? What does their relationship look like in the life of a Christian? They abide— that is, they are all part of the Christian life— but how do they relate to one another? How does my faith influence my actions toward my neighbor?

When I was flying to Illinois in January, I took along a little book called Patrick's Places to read on the airplane. Its author, Patrick Hamilton, was a Scottish priest and Lutheran martyr. Hamilton had traveled to Germany and studied at Wittenberg with Luther and Melancthon, and he wrote his Places there in 1527. He was burned at the stake the following year as a heretic for preaching what Luther taught. Hamilton includes the following discourse on faith, hope, and charity in his Places, and I think it's something that we all should read and meditate upon, especially the last paragraph where he ties faith, hope, and charity together. It certainly is a helpful reminder for us that our love for our neighbor is grounded in our faith in God— indeed, that gentle, kind, and patient love of which Paul writes in 1 Corinthians 13 is only possible for us to show our neighbors because of our faith in Christ. As Hamilton says, "Faith cometh of the word of God; hope cometh of faith; and charity springs from them both." We love others because we have faith that God first loved us!

From Hamilton, Patrick. Patrick's Places: Patrick Hamilton's Distinction Between Law and Gospel, Faith and Works. Ed. Don Matzat. 2019. Kindle Edition, loc. 689-736:

A Comparison Between Faith and Unbelief

Faith is the root of all good: unbelief is the root of all evil.

Faith makes God and man good friends:

unbelief makes them foes.

Faith brings God and man together: unbelief separates them.

All that faith does, pleases God:

all that unbelief doth, displeases God.

Faith only makes a man good and righteous:

unbelief only makes him unjust and evil.

Faith makes a man a member of Christ:

unbelief makes him a member of the devil.

Faith makes a man the inheritor of heaven:

unbelief makes him inheritor of hell.

Faith makes a man the servant of God:

unbelief makes him the servant of the devil.

Faith shows us God to be a sweet Father:

unbelief shows him a terrible Judge.

Faith holds firm to the word of God:

unbelief wavers here and there."

Faith counts and holds God to be true:

unbelief holds him false and a liar.

Faith knows God: unbelief knows him not.

Faith loves both God and his neighbor:

unbelief loves neither of them.

Faith only saves us: unbelief only condemns us.

Faith extolls God and his deeds:

unbelief extolls herself and her own deeds."

Of Hope

Hope is a trusty looking after the thing that is promised us to come, as we hope after the everlasting joy, which Christ has promised unto all that believe in him.

We should put our hope and trust in God alone, and in no other thing. "It is better to trust in God and not in man."

Psalms 118:8.

He that trusts in his own heart is a fool, Proverbs 28:26.

It is good to trust in God, and not in princes, Psalm 118:9.

They shall be like unto the images which they make,

and all that trust in them, Psalm. 65:8.

He that trusts in his own heart is a fool, Proverbs.28:26.

Cursed be the man that trusts in man, Jeremiah 17:5.

"Bid the rich men of this world, that they trust not in their unstable riches; but that they trust in the living God."

I Timothy 6:17.

It is hard for them that trust in money, to enter into the kingdom of heaven. Luke 18:25.

Well are they that trust in God,

and woe to them that trust not in him.

"Well is that man that trusts in God, for God shall be his trust."

They shall rejoice that trust in you;

they shall ever be glad, and you will defend them."

Of Charity

Charity is the love of your neighbor. The rule of charity is this:

Do as you wouldst be done to: for Christ regards all alike,

the rich, the poor, the friend and the foe,

the thankful and unthankful, the kinsman and stranger.

A Comparison between Faith, Hope, and Charity.

Faith cometh of the word of God; hope cometh of faith;

and charity springs from them both.

Faith believes the word;

hope trusts after that which is promised by the word;

charity doth good unto her neighbor, through the love that she has to God, and gladness that is within herself.

Faith looks to God and his word; Hope looks to His gift and reward; charity looks on her neighbor's profit.

Faith receives God; hope receives His reward;

charity loves her neighbor with a glad heart,

and that without any respect of reward.

Faith pertains to God only; hope to His reward;

and charity to her neighbor.

WORSHIP AND MUSIC MINISTRY

“The Significance of 40”

Have you ever noticed the significance and frequency of the number 40 throughout the Bible?

Noah and his family were first-hand witnesses to 40 days and nights of continuous rain. Moses lived in Egypt for 40 years as a prince, fled to Midian and lived for 40 years before being called by God. It was then that he spent 40 years in the wilderness with the Israelites leading them back to the promised land. There was a 40 day period from Jesus’ resurrection to the day of His ascension when the disciples continued to be witnesses to the resurrection. There are a number of other examples in Scripture where the number 40 plays a significant role. However, the one that may be the most significant is Jesus’ 40 day period in the wilderness prior to being tempted by Satan and the beginning of Jesus’ public ministry. It was a period of time when Jesus was being prepared and tested for a greater journey.

It’s this 40 day period that influenced the Early Church to define a period of time of preparation and meditation that became known as Lent (Spring) that was finalized shortly after the Council of Nicea in 325 AD. Today, we think of Lent as that period of time from Ash Wednesday through Holy Saturday. If you do the math, you’ll notice that that period of time adds up to 46 days. However, by not counting the six Sundays, it becomes a 40 day period. The Sundays during Lent are always remembered as “Little Easters” or remembrances of Jesus’ resurrection. As a result, we think of the Sundays in this season as “The Sundays IN Lent” not “The Sundays OF Lent.”

That’s one of the reasons Lutherans have adopted the practice of mid-week Lenten services throughout our history. They give us the opportunity to turn our undivided attention to those events that shape a time of meditation and remembrance in our Lenten disciplines. We can recall the readings and hymns that help us to embrace the great sacrifice that Jesus gave for us.

Mid-week services then also allow us to come together on Sundays to remember and celebrate as “The Easter People.” While the remembrances of the solemn Lenten season help us to reflect on our need for a Savior, it is always the hope and the reality of the open tomb in which we live even throughout the 40 days of Lent.

So as God used a 40 day or 40 year period of time to shape His people for a “greater end,” so may we also use the 40 day period of Lent to be shaped for a “greater end.” Use the season to observe the Lenten disciplines that will allow God’s Spirit to shape you and speak to you in ways that will take you through each day with the confidence of God’s love for you. God bless your Lenten Journey.
