Fruitfulness

The writer of Hebrews says: "Now faith is being sure of what we hope for and certain of what we do not see." (Hebrews 11: 1) Paul also tells us in Romans 10:17 that faith is one of the most precious gifts anyone can receive from God. This is all the work of the Holy Spirit, who instills and strengthens this faith through the Word and the sacraments.

However, the evidence of our faith is seen as the "fruit" that we produce. Through faith, we are able to conduct our lives as fruitful followers of Jesus who live to please Him. Faith in Christ affects the way we conduct ourselves at work, at home, in our neighborhoods, and at church. The depth of our faith will affect our fruitfulness and whether we treat our neighbors like the Good Samaritan treated the traveler (Luke 10:25-37) or like the Rich Man treated Lazarus (Luke 16:19-31). When God is exalted, joy and gratitude permeate our lives, and we bear abundant fruit.

Through His Word and Sacrament, our faith is nurtured, and we bear fruit. We can give generously of what we own, because we believe that God is faithful and will keep His promises to replenish us. "You will be made rich in every way so that you can be generous on every occasion, and through us your generosity will result in thanksgiving to God." (2 Corinthians 9: 11). With hearts and minds turned away from self and filled, instead, with thanksgiving to God, we begin to see others through His eyes, walk in His steps, and love others as He loves them.

To that end, we bear the fruit of faith as we witness to our families, friends, and neighbors, and we give to the missions of our churches so that the message of salvation might go out into the world. God calls us to be faithful. Our faith will provide us with opportunities to serve Him.

May our Lord continue to bless you in 2019!

Vicar's Voice

"And the shepherds returned,
glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, as it had been told them." (Luke 2:20)

Dear Saints at Living Savior,

It's now January and the church year is moving along at a good clip, with the season of Epiphany following hard on the heels of Christmas. I often feel as if we don't give Christmas enough time to be Christmas. We have nearly a month of Advent, and then Christmas Day comes and goes, and then we have a week and a half of "the Season of Christmas," and suddenly it's all over. The church year doesn't exactly help because, by design, the time of Christmas is short. After Christmas, we have two months of Epiphany, then two months of Lent, then two months of Easter, and then six months of Pentecost before the new church year begins. The secular world gives Christmas even less time; we have Christmas Eve and Christmas Day and everyone sings "The Twelve Days of Christmas" at their office holiday parties, and then it's over and we're all back to the grind on St. Stephen's Day. At that point, the world is waiting for New Year's and Ryan Seacrest's narration of the slow, midnight descent of a giant glass ball on a pole in New York City. Perhaps it's this secular distraction that makes Christmas seem so ephemeral.

But we see from Luke's Christmas narrative that the miracle experienced at Christmas in the birth of our Lord doesn't end with that night in the stable or byre in Bethlehem. The shepherds who were told of Christ's birth by the angels and who went to see him in Bethlehem didn't shrug their shoulders after adoring him and wander off to move on to the next thing. They went back to their flocks, but as they did so, they kept telling everyone they met the good news about the birth of the Lord, that they had seen the one long promised by the prophets in the flesh. Christmas didn't end for them that day—it continued their whole lives, regardless of where they were or what they were doing. They weren't preachers—they were shepherds—but they still shared the story of the miracle they experienced with those around them.

Christmas doesn't have to stop for us on the 25th, though perhaps the work-a-day world would prefer that it did. We don't have to consign the Christmas story to just one short season in the whole year. We can still keep telling our friends and neighbors the story and keep celebrating the miracle of our Lord and God taking on human flesh and being born as a baby so that He could save the whole world from the power of sin, and we can share that miraculous story with other people regardless of where we are or what we are doing, just like those shepherds so many years ago. Like their neighbors, our neighbors need to hear this story, too, and if we keep sharing it, perhaps Christmas won't seem so short after all. May God bless you richly this month,

Vicar Nils Niemeier

Christians Connecting with Muslims

February 16, 2019

9:30 am to 3:30 pm

Klein Hall

This study equips believers to share their Christian beliefs with their Muslim neighbors, with compassion and understanding. Sessions lead participants to learn to bridge the gospel, understand the New Testament's credibility, understand Jesus' sacrifice, and more. It demystifies Islam for Christians who have no knowledge of basic Islamic belief. The cost for the student book is $15.00. Lunch provided.

For more information, please contact Vicar Nils (vicar@livingsaviorlutheran.org) or Betty Cook (nacegc@gmail.com)

The Breath - Lutheran Campus Ministry:

Operation Finals Fuel was a success, with the vicar spreading good cheer, warmth, and caffeine to students studying for their final exams. Vicar Nils distributed several gallons of coffee to students in the Johnson Center at the George Mason Fairfax campus during finals week (December 12-19) and was met with smiles, exclamations of thanks to God, and interest in the campus ministry's work on campus. Please pray that more connections with the student body may continue to be made over the year!

Adult Sunday School Series

Back to the Basics

Continues on January 13, 2019

9:50am in Klein Hall

Our Adult Sunday School Series, "Back to the Basics" will be doing a deeper dive and compare views from other denominations regarding some of those foundational, basic Christian teachings. Our next few interactive discussions will focus on the Sacrament of Baptism. Do all denominations believe that Baptism is a sacrament? Is Baptism a work of obedience that we do? How is it that babies can be baptized while unable to demonstrate true faith? We will explore these and many other questions. We welcome anyone to come study with us! No worries if you miss a lesson. You can always jump in!

WORSHIP AND MUSIC MINISTRY

“Who am I?”

I can remember a childhood game that would try to guess the identity of an individual. Each participant would be allowed to ask one question in the hope of combining enough information with other players that would ultimately lead to revealing the name of the “mystery person.” Sometimes the puzzle could be solved after two or three questions. Other times it required more information. On some occasions, the mystery person’s identity was never solved.

The season of Epiphany is a lot like that game. Throughout the post-Christmas time, we receive clue after clue that reveals who Jesus is. The visit of the Magi, Jesus’ baptism at the Jordan River, turning water into wine at the wedding at Cana, Jesus’ own proclamation that He had fulfilled the Isaiah 61:1 prophecy, and of course, Jesus’ Transfiguration are just some of the examples during the Epiphany season that help us answer the question, “Who am I?”

For some, they are able to answer that question quickly after receiving one or two “clues.” For others, they are still asking the question. And unfortunately, for some, they either have no interest or they have given up completely seeking the answer to the question, “Who is Jesus?” How very sad!

During this Epiphany season, we have the opportunity to revisit the “revelations” of who Jesus is by hearing and relearning all of the accounts that we share in our worship. We have the chance to be “Recharged” after a busy Christmas season. We can use this recharged energy to share Jesus with others who may still be asking the question, “Who am I?”

May each of us continue to meet Jesus in both old and new ways as He keeps on revealing Himself to us not only during the Epiphany season but in our daily walk throughout the year. May we share in His “Epiphany Light” and continue to marvel at those ways He answers the question, “Who am I?”

Lutheran Church Extension Fund (LCEF)

“For the last 40 years, LCEF has had the humble privilege of supporting the LCMS as a Christ-centered servant partner. This would not have been possible without our investors—the over 60,000 faithful partners who’ve enabled us to ensure that funds and services are available now and in the future.

This past year has been a banner season for loans. The projections for the future ... are even higher. In fact, we need an additional $100 million invested to cover the projections. We are ending this limited-time offer once we reach this goal. To keep this momentum going, we are inviting you to a special, limited-time investment: 40-month 40th anniversary note@4%.

To take advantage of this limited-time investment opportunity, visit InterestTime.org/40month.”

Quoted from LCEF Publication

NOTE:

LCEF holds our church mortgages and without their partnership we would not have the wonderful facilities that Living Savior is blessed with today. The LCEF focus is exclusively on helping LCMS churches and schools to grow in their communities.

March for Life FAQs

The March for Life began in WA-DC as a small demonstration and grew to be the largest pro-life event in the world. The peaceful demonstration that has followed on the somber anniversary of Roe V. Wade every year since 1973 is a witness to the truth concerning the greatest human rights violation of our time, legalized abortion on demand.

The March is over, now what?

Before you leave Washington, we strongly encourage you to visit your elected officials and advocate for Life! When you go home, get involved! Don’t make the March for Life a once a year event, but work every day to protect the unborn. To enter the House and Senate buildings, visitors must go through security. Living Savior Preschool

Upcoming in January

Happy New Year!

The children are anxious to begin another new year. Throughout the month of January, the children will be exploring space, night and day, and the solar system. The children will learn about three very wise men and their special gifts for the new born King. We will talk about winter, snow, and nature and how it affects animals and people.

Christmas Wishes Granted

For the past 20 years, the families and staff of Living Savior Preschool have generously reached out to families in need during the holiday season. Thanks to Miki Kolton, LSP once again joined LSLC to support the children of NOVACO by fulfilling some of their Christmas wishes. LSP's tremendous outpouring of generosity provided clothing, games, toys, and gift cards for the children of NOVACO and their families. We would like to thank everyone who supported this very worthwhile outreach for families who are struggling at the holiday time. Hopefully, we made a memorable Christmas for many families once again.

Christmas Program

On December 14th the children shared their special presentation of "Our Newborn King" with their parents, grandparents and other family members and friends. We were so excited to hold the program in the beautiful Church Sanctuary! Following the program the preschool hosted a "Punch and Cookie Social" in Klein Hall. This annual event is very special to all of us at Living Savior Preschool.

Registration for 2019-2020 February 6 & 7, 2019

Registration for the next school year will begin February 6th for members of Living Savior and currently enrolled families and February 7th for the general public. LSP offers a warm, Christian learning environment for young children. We are licensed by the state of Virginia and are accredited by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC). We believe that LSP offers young children one of the best opportunities to achieve the goals of a Christian education outside of the home as they grow and develop physically, socially, emotionally and intellectually.

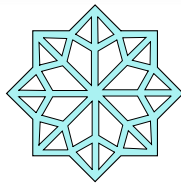

LSP enrolls children from 2 ½ through 5 years of age. We offer two, three, four and five day classes with after school care four days a week. If you or your friends and neighbors have preschool-aged children, please call the office at (703) 352-4208 or stop by for a brochure or tour of the preschool. Thank you!
